SATURDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 18, 1922.

BEGINNING CITIZENSHIP.

THE United States received forty-seven new citizens Thursday through the circuit court Marion County. Four of these men were English, the other forty three were Italian, Austrian Hungarlan, Greek, Syrian and Czecho-Slovak. The proportion is almost truly indicative of the general trend of racial coloring in America today.

There is no insurmountable reason why these Italians, Austrians, Hungarians, and the others of allen tongue, should not become good American citizens. Their children and their children's children, most certainly will be so, but the naturalizaion papers given out yesterday cannot by their power alone create a citizen in spirit, in heart, and in understanding, particularly the latter. is as wide a step between the naturalization paper and true grasp of American citizenship as there is between the first letter of the alphbet, painfully acquird by the infant mind and the completed senence built up word by word in education.

The naturalization paper indicates the poss sion of a true desire to belong to America. In this desire there is fertile ground upon which to erect the true citizen, and it is at this point that some thing definite should be done to follow up and educate these men to a real grasp of their opporfunities and responsibilities. Their children born n America will absorb through their public schools and their contact with social and recreational publife, a working knowledge of citizenship. all intents and purposes they will become as true influence is antagonistic, and it is likely to be that, If the naturalized father fails to attain in America any of the things for which he hopes and longs.

There are forty-three new citizens today in the United States who should find some avenue of admittance into real American fellowship and comMorgantown. Hundreds of Fairmonters will be move, this of forswearing allegiance to the native land in which through the ages ancestry has Ingered, and swear allegiance to a new country. It is a tremendous thing as any American can realize if he can picture himself giving up his alegiance to the stars and stripes and enrolling under the French tricolor or the Italian banner. Certainly such an advance shoul meet response other than a brief greeting in an American court room The melting pot will not melt without assistance from American born citizens, even with the aid of a naturalization paper.

THE RED CROSS CALLING

began in general movement November 11, Armisously to the Red Cross at this time, and in his proclamation he directs that the American public claims, without the use of arms think of the millions of sufferers in foreign lands that are looking to the American Red Cross for relief this winter.

In the domestic field demands continue to press heavily upon the Red Cross. The government is earnestly seeking to ensure to every diseased or disabled ex-service man the full measure of care and help which national gratitude and simple justice dictate . . . in this effort the government, the army and navy have gladly availed themselves of the assistance of the Red Cross.

"In the interests of our common humanity, and of the service which we owe to our fellow men I invite my fellow citizens to renew their allegiance to the American Red Cross during the period of the

Fairmont Chapter of the Red Cross will begin its canvass for members one week from tomorrow. Six thousand members is the goal set, and the city and county should certainly respond to this aim. Half of the dollar given to Fairmont Chapter will remain in the home treasury to be directly applied to home needs. The other half will be sent into the national treasury to be devoted to cails in time of flood, fire, storm, or disaster in America, or to give aid to the starving and the destitute in other countries or to ensure aid for soldiers in Six thousand memberships should be volunteer ed in Marlon County. Why not telephone into Red Cross Headquarters at once, names and addresses for memberships? Why not stop in that corner room at the court house, and leave a dollar and enroll personally? Make the local Red Cross appeal short and successful, it can be done if the public sets its mind to it.

THE RED LIGHT EXITS.

THE question has recently been raised about the propriety of marking fire exits with red lights. It is a timely question. The subject was discussed at a joint meeting of highways and railroad men who were considering colors for traffic signals; at this meeting one man stated.

"We have always trained the child to think in terms of danger when he sees red. We have alvays trained the foreigner, and in many cases all adults to stop when they see red. Yet our children, the foreigners, and all of us go to the theater, and find the fire exits designated by red lights, and we automatically stop. The subconscious impulse to stop at the sign of red has undoubtedly been a factor in many theater panies. It is even certain that many automobile accidents have been due to the fact that the mind action of the driver was stupefied, or stopped because he had been misdirected at some earlier time by some traffic sign or color signal."

A resolution was adopted at the meeting tha will if carried out result in making red, green and yellow mean the same things in all parts of the country, and the wisdom of such an action is

The most dangerous complication in the use citizens as any American born child, unless home | red, lies of course in exit lights. Why these lights should over have been made red lights is a question. It is to be hoped that a change in this may

The road between this place and Morgantown is not safe in wet weather, especially when rain is falling after a prolonged drouth. The railroad offers a safer route this time, if not quite such a pleasurable and convenient method of travel. A trip by automobile to Morgantown, unless the weather clears very abruptly, will be a dangerous undertaking.

The Public's Interest In Telephone Earnings

The public is directly interested in the quality of service furnished by this Company and what it pays for such service.

It follows then that the public is concerned in the Company's earnings, because if the earnings are madequate, the service cannot be maintained at a high standard. On the other hand, if earnings are excessive, the public is entitled to lower rates.

The aim of this Company has always been to charge rates that will yield a fair but not excessive return on the investment. This is necessary to attract the new capital required to keep step with the growth and progress of the community. There have been times when our income has not been sufficient to meet operating expenses. Such was the case during and after the World War.

When we were forced finally to seek relief through increased rates, we did not ask the Public Service Commission to approve rates high enough to yield a fair return. We hoped that the future would bring reductions in costs and that increased efficiency would be obtained. This, together with moderate increases in rates, we hoped would result within a reasonable time in providing sufficient revenues to yield a fair return.

During the two years that have passed since every energy toward furnishing the best possible service and toward the effecting of econ omies so that our investors might be afforded the return to which they are entitled.

In the first nine months of this year, our earnings have been at the rate of 6.21% a year on our investment in West Virginia.

The return is still insufficient. But we have made progress and this gives us confidence that with our present rates we can, by constantly increasing efficiency and persistent econearn a return sufficient to attract the new capital necessary to permit us to expand our system.
